Fleming “Mike” Legg is a career U.S. Army officer who brings extensive congressional experience to Blank Rome Government Relations, most recently serving as a professional staff member for the U.S. House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure and working extensively on facilitating communications and strategic initiatives with the Department of Defense (“DOD”) and State Department (“DOS”) as well as for foreign diplomatic missions.

During his Army intelligence career, he served as a congressional liaison officer for both the U.S. Army Office of the Chief of Legislative Affairs, House Liaison Division, and the U.S. Special Operations Command Legislative Affairs. In these roles, he facilitated substantial communications between the Pentagon, U.S. House of Representatives, and U.S. Senate, as well as visits by congressional members and oversight committees to military installations, facilities, and ongoing deployments. He also developed a comprehensive strategy to defend special operations funding within the president’s budget and established broad support in both the U.S. House of Representatives and the U.S. Senate for special operations requirements, capabilities, and personnel.

In addition to his public sector experience, Mike served as vice president for strategic initiatives at NEK Advanced Securities Group where he identified and developed long-term, strategic business opportunities and established collaborative relationships with the Department of Energy, Department of Homeland Security, DOD, DOS, and industry customers. He also served as a principal and founder of Legg, Perkins & Associates, LLC in Washington, D.C., a government relations/consulting firm primarily focused on assisting small to mid-size businesses in the defense and homeland security sector.

Mike has Top Secret Clearance and attended the Post Graduate Intelligence Program at the National Defense Intelligence College at Bolling Air Force Base.

Outside The Firm

Mike is an avid Rugby player and supporter. He is a former captain of the U.S. Army and U.S. Combined Service Rugby Teams and remains involved as the chairman of the U.S. Combined Service Rugby Committee, which is dedicated to the growth of the sport in the military and providing opportunities for our soldiers, sailors, airmen, and coasties to participate in national and international venues.
